History

The Süper Lig was founded in 1959, replacing the former Turkish National League. The league was initially contested by 16 teams, and the number of teams has increased to 18 in recent years. The Süper Lig has been dominated by three teams: Fenerbahçe, Galatasaray, and Beşiktaş. These three teams have won the Süper Lig title a combined 55 times.

The Süper Lig has undergone a number of changes in its format over the years. In 1984, the league was expanded to 18 teams. In 1993, the league was split into two groups, with the top six teams in each group qualifying for a championship group. This format was abolished in 2002, and the league returned to a single-table format.

Structure

The Süper Lig is contested by 18 teams. Each team plays every other team twice, once at home and once away. The team with the most points at the end of the season is crowned champion. The bottom three teams in the Süper Lig are relegated to the TFF First League, and the top three teams in the TFF First League are promoted to the Süper Lig.
