At the helm of this beloved diner is Carolyn Brown, a woman whose passion for food and community shines through in every aspect of her establishment. A culinary artist with a generous heart, Carolyn has poured her soul into creating a menu that pays homage to classic diner cuisine while adding her own unique flair.

Carolyn's journey to becoming the owner of The Strawberry Hearts Diner began with a deep-seated love for cooking. Growing up, she would spend countless hours in the kitchen with her grandmother, learning the secrets of Southern home cooking. It was there that she discovered her passion for creating dishes that brought joy and comfort to others.

After honing her skills in various restaurants, Carolyn's entrepreneurial spirit led her to purchase The Strawberry Hearts Diner in 2010. Armed with her culinary expertise and a vision to preserve the diner's historic charm, she embarked on a mission to make it a culinary destination like no other.

For lunch, dive into a juicy burger made from locally sourced beef and topped with your favorite toppings. Or, opt for a crisp grilled cheese sandwich served with a side of creamy tomato soup.

As the sun sets, The Strawberry Hearts Diner transforms into a cozy haven for dinner. Relish in the tender flavors of a perfectly grilled steak or savor the comforting aromas of a classic meatloaf with mashed potatoes and gravy. And for those with a sweet tooth, the diner's homemade pies and cakes are a must-try.
